

Local News.

Harry McCandless went to Kansas City Tuesday.

We will allow our subscribers 20 cents a bushel for corn.

Rabe Elliott shipped a car of hogs to Kansas City last week.

Additional local matter may be found on the fifth page.

Allie and Harry McCandless returned from Omaha Monday night.

Frank Argabright visited his Lincoln friends a few days last week.

Charlie Clark and wife of White Cloud, Kansas, are visiting relatives in this city.

Miss Pearl Finch, of Brownville, visited Nemaha friends from Monday till Wednesday.

We are pleased to see Miss May Gaither able to be out again, after a siege of scarlet fever.

Mrs. A. L. Jarvis, who has been visiting her parents at Wabash, Nebr., returned home last Sunday.

Miss Hattie Hoover and sister, Mrs. Buchenau, drove over to Tarkio, Mo., Saturday, returning Sunday.

Robt. McManus came down from Lincoln Monday. Like all the Nemaha people, he would like to come back.

Carse & McCandless received a car of lumber from Burlington Thursday. It will be used in building corn cribs west of the opera house.

Miss Bessie Kay returned from Stella last Saturday. Miss Gentry and Miss Willer came with her and were her guests until Sunday evening.

Rev. C. H. Gilmore will preach Sunday night at the M. E. church in Nemaha on the subject of "The Second Coming of Christ." Everybody is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Clark have been visiting relatives and friends in Lincoln. Doe returned Monday. Mrs. Clark will not return until the last of the week.

John Barnes, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Welton, at Hutchinson, for several months, returned home last Saturday. We were glad to see Mr. Barnes looking well.

Rev. E. S. Chamberlain received the sad news last week of the death of his brother, residing in the western part of the state. He had been sick for a long time with Bright's disease.

Miss May Kerker on last Saturday celebrated her eleventh birthday by giving a party to a number of her little friends in the afternoon. Of course all present had a very pleasant time.

Steve Cooper, republican candidate for constable, got the largest vote in Nemaha precinct last Tuesday of any man on the ticket, his vote being 138. S. Gilbert, for justice, came next with 131.

Jim Sparks now classes rabbits with dangerous wild animals. He tried to catch one the other day when it kicked him and knocked a big piece of skin off his hand. He declares it kicked as hard as a mule.

Bert Buchenau and his mother started Monday for Lone Rock, Wisconsin, where they expect to make their home. Bert was feeling first rate, and has been able for several days to walk around quite lively without the assistance of even a cane.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Fellers were the guests of Mrs. S. A. Scovill a few days ago, stopping over night. They were on their way to their home near Elk Creek, after a visit to friends in Missouri. John is feeling very proud, as he has a son and heir, now about two months old.

See the supplement for election news.

Corn shucking has been uphill work this fall, as the dry weather caused the husks to break in pieces and a great many ears would be found on the ground. The rain Wednesday has helped matters very much.

A few days ago J. S. Hadlock and Charley Zook were painting the poor house. They were on a scaffold thirty feet high painting the cornice when a bent of the scaffold broke. Hadlock caught a 2x4 and saved himself from falling. Fortunately the scaffold balanced on the other bent, but Charley had to keep quiet, although the end of one of his fingers was mashed flat. Hadlock finally got the scaffold fastened safely, and Charley got down and looked after his finger. The end of the back of the nail was mashed off, but Charley felt relieved that he was saved, as it meant death if he had fallen.

On Tuesday Mark White's baby girl, not quite a year old, got severely scalded. Mrs. White had commenced washing, and poured a boiler full of hot water in the washing machine and then turned away, when the baby tried to pull herself up to the washer, catching hold of the plug to do so, when the plug pulled out, letting the hot water stream over her. The lower part of her face, her left arm to the wrist, her chest and part of her right arm are scalded so that the skin came off in places, while the upper part of her face is scalded by the steam. Dr. Keeling thinks that with the best of nursing she will survive, but she is in a critical condition, and her case is very serious.

DEATH OF S. A. HUNTINGTON.

S. A. Huntington died at his residence in Nemaha, Nebraska, Sunday, November 8d, 1895, at 10:30 a. m., aged 73 years, 6 months and 7 days. The funeral services were held Monday at 11 o'clock a. m., at the M. E. church. Rev. Chas. H. Gilmore preached the funeral sermon. The body was then taken to Bedford cemetery and laid at rest beside the father and mother of the deceased.

Mr. Huntington has been in poor health for some time. Some months ago he had a stroke of paralysis and has never fully recovered from its effects. He was able to be around until a day or two before his death. Thursday he began to feel worse than usual, gradually getting worse until his death. A few hours before he died he had a second stroke of paralysis and never spoke afterward, although he seemed to be conscious until just before his death.

Stephen A. Huntington was born in Nantucket, Mass., April 27th, 1822. He came to Nemaha in 1872, opening a blacksmith shop which he has owned ever since that time. Until failing health compelled him to quit work he ran the shop himself.

The deceased was highly respected by the entire community. He was never known to do a dishonorable act, but was ever upright and honest in all his dealings with his fellow men. He leaves to mourn his loss a devoted wife, five children—G. F. Huntington, of Bedford precinct, Stephen Huntington, of Nemaha, David A. Huntington, of Mansato, Kansas, Mrs. Hattie Stewart, whose home is at Los Angeles, California, but who has been in Nemaha for several months, and Mrs. Sara Combs, who recently started with her husband for Tennessee—and one brother, J. W. Huntington, of Auburn. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved ones in their sorrow.

Mrs. S. A. Huntington and the sons and daughters of S. A. Huntington, desire to return their sincere thanks to the kind friends at Nemaha and Howe for their assistance and sympathy during their trial and bereavement.

Remember we take anything on subscription that we can eat ourselves or feed to hogs or cattle.

OBITUARY.

Alexander R. McCandless died at his residence in Omaha Friday, Nov. 1st, 1895, at 3 o'clock a. m. The funeral services were held at the residence Sunday at 2 p. m., and the body laid at rest in the Forest Lawn Cemetery at Omaha.

The deceased was one of the oldest settlers in Nebraska, coming to Omaha in 1857 and taking a claim on what is now part of Omaha. In 1869 he bought the farm in Aspinwall precinct where he lived for so many years, moving there the next year, and remaining there until in 1890, when he moved back to Omaha.

Mr. McCandless had an attack of pneumonia fever in the spring of 1894, and came near dying, but finally rallied. Since that time, however, his health has been very poor. His death was caused by nervous prostration, there seeming to be a giving way of the entire nervous system. He gradually grew worse from the time he was taken sick, finally breathing his last as easily as if falling to sleep.

Alexander R. McCandless was born in Wayne county, Ind., in 1818, but lived many years in Pennsylvania before coming west. Six children are left to mourn the loss of a father ever kind and affectionate, whose counsel will be greatly missed. They are Miss Sadie McCandless, James A. McCandless, both of whom lived with their father in Omaha; Mrs. Belle Cornell, also living in Omaha; E. Swift McCandless, living at Auburn; Alexander R. McCandless, jr., who lives on the old home farm in Aspinwall precinct, and Harry K. McCandless, living on a farm in Aspinwall precinct.

Mr. McCandless made a host of friends in his extensive business dealings, who will regret his death. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, and a liberal contributor to all good causes.

The Methodist ladies' aid society has decided to give a supper at the poor farm Thanksgiving night for the purpose of raising money to pay off the remainder of the church extension loan. At the time the church was built a loan of $250 at 6 per cent interest was secured from the church extension fund. This was to be paid at the rate of $50 a year and interest. In June, 1891, when the church was dedicated, the ladies' aid society assumed the payment of this obligation. The last payment is due January 1st, 1896. The ladies have to raise $20 or $25 more to meet this payment and want to make it at this supper. This will put the church entirely out of debt.

The following is the vote on precinct officers in Nemaha precinct:

For assessor—W. M. Anderson, ind, 80; Jas. F. Drain, rep, 110.

For justice of the peace—H. S. Gaither, ind, 95; Stephen Gilbert, rep, 131; D. T. Smiley, rep, 98.

For constables—Stephen Cooper, rep, 138; David Thompson, ind, 78; Chas. Zook, rep, 114.

For road overseer—Dist #2, Robert Frost, rep, 67; Lewis Thompson, ind, 21. Dist #3, Chas. W. Roberts, rep and ind, 30. Dist #4, John Hawxby, ind, 17; W. T. Russell, rep, 24.

For judges of election—F. M. Anderson, ind, 75; Seymour Howe, rep, 120; J. Marlatt, rep, 115; C. W. Roberts, ind, 73; W. T. Russell, rep, 111; John Stiers, ind, 70.

For clerks of election—Chas. Anderson, ind, 86; Wm. Moore, ind, 74; W. W. Sanders, rep, 111; J. H. Veeder, rep, 109.

Two hundred and six votes were cast.
